

The Iowa Review

Volume 45
Issue 2 Fall 2015

Article 41

2015

Yellow

Michele Glazer

Follow this and additional works at: <https://ir.uiowa.edu/iowareview>

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation

Glazer, Michele. "Yellow." The Iowa Review 45.2 (2015): 173-173. Web.
Available at: <https://doi.org/10.17077/0021-065X.7631>

This Contents is brought to you for free and open access by Iowa Research Online. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Iowa Review by an authorized administrator of Iowa Research Online. For more information, please contact lib-ir@uiowa.edu.

Yellow

i call & ask you are sitting in your yellow chair in the kitchen waiting as usual you say to see what will happen as you do now these days, for someone to come, something to come clear, waiting to break fast because you have had just a few sips of water
this morning, which is not usual (it is unusually early),
& also not true as in accurate but true as in memory,
yours, of having eaten nothing & the thin
scree of complaint in your voice arcs in the air, electrical.

i say yellow chair and yellow lets me recall to mind brightly not only the chair but you in it.

Something has turned inside you know there is something you should be doing there is no one who tells you. it is like having yellow,    yellow!

with nothing to fix it to.